PROVO CANYON--A grand opening for the first two of 22 projected solar-efficient condominium units at Canyon Meadows will be held Friday (June 15) at the unique development site eight miles from the mouth of Provo Canyon.

The public is invited to visit the new models from 10 a.m. until dusk, said James Crowley, general manager. Visitors may also see 62 view lots for single family homes and the open meadow which is the centerpiece of the area. It will be the site of a future clubhouse and playground, and features a petting zoo now open.

The new condominiums are in duplex configuration, with 2,600 square feet each. Architects are Nelson Boren & Associates of Salt Lake City and Mesa, Ariz., and the builder is LaDell Petersen of Provo. Decoration is by Jack West Interiors, Salt Lake, one unit in contemporary Southwestern and one in country French.

Each has four commissioned oil paintings by David R. Johnson, Salt Lake, and the French unit a stained-glass panel by Art Glass Expressions, Provo.

The area is ideal for solar applications because of its freedom from winter fog. The design makes effective use of southern clerestories, trombe walls, and heat-absorbing floors in winter. The units also have skylights, stove or fireplace, and backup electric heating.

Each unit's ground floor has living, dining, and sunroom areas plus a bath and two bedrooms. Upstairs is a spacious master bedroom and bath and loft area.

Each includes also a patio, double garage, and air-lock entry to the living areas.

Canyon Meadows is located in the western part of Wasatch County, a mile and a half west of Deer Creek Dam on the north side of the Provo River.

Heint Berg directs the placing of the final bleacher as the preparation for the State Finals is completed. The County has increased the seating capacity rodeo companies.

Burning Permits Needed

With the passage of June 1, marking the beginning of the closed fire season, it is important to note that burning permits will be required for all open burning.

The State Forester, Paul Sjoblom, designates the period from June 1 to October 31 as a closed fire season where it is unlawful to set on fire, or cause to be set on fire any inflammable material on any forest, brush, range, grass, grain, stubble, or hay land without first securing a written burning permit from the State Forester or a designated deputy.

Burning permits are not a means of prohibiting the public from open burning. It is a way by which all fire fighting agencies are made aware of your controlled burn, thus reducing the need and cost of fire fighters responding to a reported fire which turns out to be a controlled fire. A written permit also establishes guidelines for a safe burn. The permittee can also be notified in the event of high fire danger that the burn might be postponed until safer weather conditions exist.

The State would like to invite those individuals who will be burning fence lines on cultivated lands, canals or irrigation ditches

19th Century Era to be

The Deer Creek Scenic Railroad in Heber City, operator of Heber Creeper steam train will be exhibiting two reproduction 19th century railroad passenger coaches.

The cars, which were purchased from the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, Michigan, were built to resemble the railroad cars which the famous inventor Thomas Edison, worked as a boy. One of the cars is fitted as a passenger coach, and the other
